TECLO Outputs: MOOC for Future Textile and Clothing Managers

The TECLO consortium developed a Massive Open Online Course (MOOC) for Future Textile and Clothing Managers. It is composed of seven learning units, it is accessible completely online, and it is free.

Enrolling in the TECLO MOOC you will be able to learn on your own schedule watching short video lectures, taking interactive quizzes and connecting with classmates and tutors. The video lectures are available in English, with subtitles in eight languages: English, Spanish, Greek, French, Italian, Polish, Romanian and Slovene.

The students completing the course will receive a certificate stating the learning outcomes achieved.
The TECLO MOOC for Future Textile and Clothing Managers will be available from 20th October 2016 to a first class of maximum 200 students.
If you want to be part of this piloting phase, you just have to complete the brief online form available here: http://bit.do/moocform

Ongoing activities: TECLO European Network for T&C Professionals

If you are a manager of the T&C sector, a HEIs student wishing for a career in the T&C sector, or a HEIs representative, please consider joining the TECLO European Network for T&C Professionals group on LinkedIn. The group aims at providing a space for discussion and networking for Companies and HEIs working in the field of T&C and looking for new opportunities for collaboration.

The group is promoted and moderated by the TECLO consortium, that includes some of the most innovative European HEIs, Associations and SMEs active in the T&C sector.
